

Communications Team Support

Community Food Strategies is seeking creative, engaged individuals to support our Communications Team in documenting stories of local food councils and in contributing to our outreach efforts.

Community Food Strategies is a multi-organizational initiative led by the Center for Environmental Farming Systems (CEFS) that builds the capacity of local food councils across North Carolina to cultivate strategic relationships and create good food policy. Local food councils are community-led groups working to create a more resilient, thriving food system for everyone.

The Community Food Strategy team provides organizational development, specialized trainings, and networking opportunities to build the capacity of the nearly 35 local food councils and their growing network across North Carolina. Each council has unique priorities and strategies that we want to share with the whole network to inspire more innovative ideas and collective action for food systems change.

Details:

- 5-10 hours/week for duration of specified project
- Occasional travel may be required (at the expense of Community Food Strategies)

Primary Responsibilities:

- Interview partners, research and write stories from local food council projects to share statewide (state and local newspapers, newsletters, webpage, and social media)
- Collect and post relevant content to our Facebook account
- Learn about community organizing, food systems, and local food councils

Additional Opportunities:

- Assist with website updates and collection of newsletter content
- Proofread resources, newsletters, and articles
- Provide event support
- Collect photographs and video of events and projects
- Create graphic design content

Qualifications:

- Excellent written and oral communication skills
- Experience writing articles (interviewing experience a plus)
- Organized work style
- Interest in food system and community development issues

Submit Interest:

- Email your resume and a cover letter explaining your interest to Gini Knight at gini\_knight@ncsu.edu.
- Applications preferred by January 13th. Opportunities will remain open until filled.